- (1)① Hiroshi : I'm going to the library, but I don't know how to get there.
Mary : OK. Here is the map. We are here. Go straight. When you come to the hospital, turn right and you can see the library on your left.
Question : Which map are they looking at?
- ② Hiroshi : Mary, I took this picture yesterday.
Mary : Oh, it's a nice picture, Hiroshi. Did you take it in the park?
Hiroshi : Yes, there were many flowers there. And my two dogs enjoyed running there.
Mary : Your dogs look very happy.
Question : Which is the picture Hiroshi took yesterday?
- ③ Hiroshi : Mary, when is Katy's birthday? Next week, right?
Mary : Yes. It's Tuesday, January fifteenth, Hiroshi. I haven't bought her a present. How about you?
Hiroshi : I haven't, either. So why don't we go to buy one this Saturday?
Mary : Sure.
Question : When are Hiroshi and Mary going to buy a present for Katy?
- ④ Hiroshi : Oh, Mary. Thank you for coming.
Mary : Hi, Hiroshi. How are you feeling now? We all hope you will soon get better, and we all want you to play in the baseball game next month.
Hiroshi : Don't worry, Mary. The doctor says I can leave here and go home next week.
Mary : Oh, I'm glad to hear that.
Question : Where are they talking?
- (2) Haruko : Mr. White, I will go to Australia to study English next year, but I don't know what to do before going there.
Mr. White : I think you should study English hard. Of course you will learn it in Australia, but there are many things you can do here in Japan. For example, you can learn a lot in English classes. At home you can listen to English on the radio.
Haruko : I see.
Mr. White : Well, when I first came to Japan twenty years ago, I was a high school student, too.
Haruko : Oh, I didn't know that.
Mr. White : My father was a Japanese teacher in my country. He told me a lot about Japan. His stories were very interesting to me. So I decided to study in Japan.
Haruko : Did you have a problem when you came to Japan?
Mr. White : Of course I did. Everything was new to me. There are a lot of differences between the two countries. But people around me were very kind and they always helped me.
Haruko : I see.
Mr. White : After I went back to Australia, I often told my friends about Japan. Then I thought it was important to understand differences between the two countries. It's not easy to understand them, but we should try to do so.
Haruko : Thank you, Mr. White. I will learn a lot in Japan and in Australia.

(2) Good morning, everyone. It's Monday today. I am going to tell you about this week.

You usually have three classes in the morning and one class in the afternoon. But on Tuesday, you will have only two classes in the morning. After the classes, you can eat lunch. When you finish lunch, please be back here by noon. In the afternoon, you will visit a post office in town and learn how to send letters to Japan. You will come back to school at about three.

On Friday, you will go on a day trip to the river. Come to school at six in the morning. You have to bring your lunch because there are no shops around the river. And it will be hot that day, so you also have to bring something to drink. The river is very beautiful. You can swim there if you like. And if you want to take pictures, you can bring a camera. At four o'clock in the afternoon, you will be back at school. That's all. If you have any questions, please ask Mr. Brown or me. Thank you.

- (2) My grandmother lives near my house. Every year, on the third Monday in September, we have a party for her at her house. It is the holiday for old people. My mother makes a cake for her. Her cake is very good.

This year, the holiday for old people was September nineteenth. In the morning, my mother didn't feel good. My father said to me, "Akira, your mother can't make a cake. So let's go and buy a cake for your grandmother at the shop," and I agreed. When I was going out to the cake shop, I saw a bag on the table. I thought, "It was made by my grandmother. She gave it to me on my birthday last month. I was very happy then." I said to my father, "Father, I'd like to make a cake for my grandmother." My father said, "OK. Let's make a cake for her." There weren't any eggs in my house, so I went and bought some at the supermarket in the morning. In the afternoon I made a cake with my father. It took four hours, but I enjoyed making the cake.

Late in the afternoon, my mother got better. When she saw the cake, she was very surprised. "Akira, you're great! I feel better now, so let's go to your grandmother's house together with this cake." My father and I agreed. When we got to my grandmother's house, she was cooking dinner. When my grandmother looked at the cake, she looked happy. My mother said, "Akira made the cake with his father." "Oh, really? I'm very happy. Thank you very much, Akira," she said. I was very happy to hear that and said, "I will make a cake for you next year, too."

- ① When do Akira and his family have a party for his grandmother every year?
② Whose idea was to buy a cake for Akira's grandmother?
③ What did Akira do on Monday morning?
④ Who went to Akira's grandmother's house on the holiday for old people this year?
